Local Artist Lenn Goldmann Featured at Plumas Bank through May

Goldmann is the newest local artist featured at Plumas Bank's Chico branch in 2026

Chico, Calif. (February 9, 2026) - Plumas Bank is pleased to announce its next featured artist through its partnership with the Museum of Northern California Art (monca). Local artist Lenn Goldmann's watercolor paintings will be on display at the Chico branch through May 2026.

"We're very excited to have Lenn Goldmann's work at our location," said Ian Macmillan, branch manager at Plumas Bank in Chico. "His paintings will allow our guests a chance to pause and enjoy their visit. They show the natural beauty of our area and bring both energy and calm to the space. Featuring local artists like Lenn helps our branch feel more welcoming and connected to the community."

Goldmann has been a California artist for many years, painting watercolor landscapes from Big Sur to the Inland Valley and the High Sierra. The pieces shown at Plumas Bank focus on the creeks and rivers of Northern California. He starts each painting outdoors, working directly from nature, then finishes it in his studio by combining what he observed with memory and careful design.

His work is known for its very fluid, expressive feel. Goldmann uses Chinese calligraphy brushes on French Arches watercolor paper, working with loose, energetic strokes that bring out movement, color, and light. As a result, this approach naturally draws viewers in and captures the rhythm of water, land, and sky.

Goldmann's experience in art, architecture, and design shapes how he composes his paintings. In the past several years, he has created a unique framing method that mounts watercolor paper to plywood and seals it without glass. This gives each piece a clean, modern California look that fits seamlessly into modern interior spaces.

"For me, nature is my outdoor church," Goldmann says. "I want to express the forces of nature, the energy of sunlight, wind through trees, and the power of water shaping the land."

Serving as an extended gallery space, Plumas Bank's Chico branch has featured the work of numerous Northern California artists, including Judy Kane, Rick Vertolli, Simone Senat, and Tim Moore. The partnership between Plumas Bank and monca shows their ongoing commitment to celebrating and supporting the arts in the communities it serves.

"Partnerships like this allow art to be experienced in everyday spaces," said Patricia Macias, executive director of monca. "Lenn Goldmann's work captures the spirit of our region, and we're grateful to Plumas Bank for their ongoing support for local artists in the community."

Community members are invited to view Goldmann's work at Plumas Bank, located at 900 Mangrove Avenue, Monday to Friday from 9a.m. to 5p.m. The bank also permanently displays landscape prints on metal by Paradise artist Jeremy Vesely and an outdoor mural by Chico artist Dylan Tellesen.
