FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Plumas Bank CEO Andrew J. Ryback to Represent Nevada on ICBA Federal Delegate Board

Reno, NV (April 30, 2026) -The Independent Community Bankers of America (ICBA) announced that Andrew J. Ryback, Director, President and Chief Executive Officer of Plumas Bancorp and Plumas Bank was elected to the ICBA Federal Delegate Board to represent Nevada community banks. ICBA is the nation's voice for community banks.

"Community banks play a vital role in helping families thrive and small businesses grow," said Ryback. "I'm proud to continue to work with ICBA to advance policies and initiatives that protect and empower these institutions in their efforts to build stronger, more resilient communities that bolster our economy and make a meaningful difference in neighborhoods across America."

In addition to helping shape and advocate ICBA's national policy positions and programs, Ryback's duties include grassroots engagement, member recruitment efforts, and making sure community bankers in Nevada have a voice in ICBA's work in Washington.

ICBA is the only national organization dedicated exclusively to promoting the interests of locally operated community banks and savings institutions. With trusted financial expertise and high-quality customer service as their hallmarks, community banks offer best-in class financial services for millions of consumers, small businesses and agricultural enterprises.

"Andy is an esteemed community leader and a passionate champion for our industry," said ICBA Chairman Jack Hopkins, president and CEO of CorTrust Bank in Sioux Falls, S.D. "We are fortunate to have Andy's voice and vision on our Federal Delegate Board, where his experience and insights will help advance our mission in service to the nation's community banks."

This is Ryback's 3rd term on the ICBA Federal Delegate Board having previously represented California for two three-year terms. Plumas Bank is a full-service community bank with branch locations across Nevada and California.
