Plumas Bank Welcomes David Cleveland as Vice President, Commercial Loan Officer

Growing team aims to fuel business growth in multiple sectors

Reno, Nev. (March 10, 2025) — Plumas Bank, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Plumas Bancorp, is pleased to announce the addition of David Cleveland as Vice President, Commercial Loan Officer. Cleveland's appointment strengthens the bank's growing commercial team positioned to support economic development and business growth across industry sectors in Northern Nevada.

Cleveland supports commercial lending services, including loans for equipment, construction, commercial real estate, and working capital needs. With a strong background in client relationship management, commercial banking, and financial services, he brings more than a decade of experience to the role.

Prior to joining Plumas Bank, Cleveland served as Vice President of Commercial Banking for a regional bank, managing a $40 million loan portfolio and specializing in loan origination, credit analysis and risk assessment. He began his career in central Nebraska, where he partnered with agricultural producers and small businesses to develop tailored financial solutions.

"I am thrilled at the prospect of joining Plumas Bank," said Cleveland. "With my strengths in building relationships and working closely with clients, I am eager to help guide them in making sound financial decisions. This opportunity not only excites me but also fuels my commitment to making a meaningful impact in our community."

"David brings an ideal combination of banking expertise and strong relationship management that will power our clients as they grow their businesses," said Jack Prescott, senior vice president and commercial lending manager at Plumas Bank. "Northern Nevada is seeing an influx of diverse mid-market businesses, and Plumas Bank is well positioned to help those businesses with their financial capital needs."

Originally from Omaha, Nebraska, Cleveland earned his Bachelor of Arts in Journalism and Mass Communications from Creighton University, where he also played for the Creighton baseball team. Since relocating to Reno in 2021, he has been actively involved in the community, volunteering with organizations such as Catholic Charities and the Juvenile

Diabetes Research Foundation (JDRF). Outside of work, Cleveland enjoys camping, snowboarding, golfing and spending time with family
